The two passionately focused berlins have gone away with a combined manual recovery rate of 44% in 2018. This is because when you zoom in to look at the total manual catch rate through the brand, the numbers drop drastically and put in line with the rest the car manufacturers. And according to what the automaker just said Autoblog, the numbers look good ... at least when they looked at the usualsuspensions. There would be the Volkswagen Golf GTI and Golf R, of course.
